Overview of Session Format

Each session is 90 minutes:
- 15 minutes of research overview/highlights from the researchers assigned to that session
- 20-25 minute breakout group 1
- 20-25 minute breakout group 2
- 20-25 minute breakout group 3

Each session has approximately 5-6 papers:
- At the beginning of each session, each individual has 2 minutes to present highlights or things of interest to the entire group (mainly a "Why you want to come to my group to hear more" speech). Small breakout groups follow the overviews where you have the opportunity to share your research and present a more detailed account.
- Typically individuals do not read their papers, rather this is a more informal presentation with interaction/questions from those attending. There will be 3 rotations each lasting 20 minutes—so you will then give your same presentation to two more groups within the session time frame.
- Some presenters choose to provide an outline/handout during their breakout groups, but it is not required.
- All abstracts are printed in the program, which also aids attendees in choosing breakout sessions to match their interests.

2015 Proceedings

- Individuals who have had their paper accepted for publication will be contacted (likely early January) with any editing comments/suggestions. This will facilitate timely publication of the Proceedings.
- All symposium participants will be mailed a copy of the 2015 Proceedings.
